ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADE BREAKDOWN

5%: CLASS PARTICIPATION. We will often break into small groups for discussion and / or brief writing assignments. You're expected to have done the reading and to participate in these small groups and in general class discussion.

45% RESPONSE PAPERS: (750-1000 words = 3-4 pages, 12-point type; double-spaced, 1-inch margins). Must use .doc or .docx format (NO PDF); sent it by email to protevi@lsu.edu by 4:30 pm on due date.

These papers are designed to help you process our readings. You may write your essay on one or more of the readings completed by the paper's due date. (Generally, you should limit yourself to no more than two readings if you choose to do more than one.) Use the following questions to guide you in writing your paper, but do not simply write answers to the questions. Your paper should take essay form with clear paragraphs. 1. What problem or problems is the author addressing? What does their theory aim to explain? 2. Does the writer suggest solutions to the problem? What are they? If not, do you have suggestions for its solution? 3. What is the writer's perspective and / or methodology? Do they clearly state this perspective and / or methodology? 4. How does the reading influence your understanding of the topic? Does the theorist present an effective argument? Any personal reactions?

50% TERM PAPER: (3000-4000 words, excluding references; 12-15 pages of main text; 12-point type; double-spaced, 1-inch margins; at least 8 references). Must use .doc or .docx format (NO PDF); sent it by email to protevi@lsu.edu by 4:30 pm on due date. This is your chance to become an expert on a topic. We will agree on a topic and thesis of your paper in independent discussion. (A topic is the area of inquiry; a thesis is a position you argue for.) You will need to email me a thesis statement and bibliography prior to a rough draft. You will need to email me a draft before the final paper is accepted.

GENERAL EDUCATION CREDIT

Honors 2030 is approved for 3 hours of General Education credit in the English Composition or Humanities areas. As such, the course will address the criteria of both General Education areas.

English Composition: General Education courses in the English Composition Area are centered on writing pedagogy and developing basic skills in written communication. In these courses students will: demonstrate Ability in written analysis and synthesis; undertake writing as a recursive process that develops and transforms thought; learn how to conduct basic research and use it effectively in written works; learn how to use the resources of the LSU library; interpret, evaluate, integrate, and document information gathered from print and online sources; understand a research assignment as a series of tasks that include finding, analyzing, and synthesizing information from primary and secondary sources; integrate information from sources into writing, and document this information appropriately; respond appropriately to different kinds of rhetorical situations, with a focus on purpose and the needs of various audiences, using appropriate genre conventions; adopt appropriate voice, tone, and level of formality; and apply knowledge of structure and organization, paragraphing, and mechanics.

Humanities: General Education courses in the Humanities Area should give students an understanding of their own cultural traditions and those of other cultures, locally, nationally, and internationally; lead students to reflect on fundamental questions that human beings have faced, whatever their diverse backgrounds and cultures; and introduce students to the humanities disciplines, such as literature, history, philosophy, religious studies, and language.
